

Von Thielmann, the German ambassador, followed with the Baroness Von Thielmann and her daughter, and a number of young girls in the uniforms of the European diplomatic corps. Then the brilliant uniforms of the European diplomatic corps gave way to the modest black of conventional evening dress. Von Thielmann, minister from Mexico, who, in common with the representatives of the Latin-American republics, with the exception of those from Brazil, followed the custom of his country in appearing in the highest grade of civilian conventional without regard to the almanac. Senora Novaro and the secretaries and attendants of the Mexican legation followed as the Mexican.

ADMIRAL HER SILKS.
A year ago a Chinese woman was seen for the first time at the opening function of the official season. She was Mrs. Yang Yu, the wife of the Chinese minister to the United States. She came to the party in a very much more modest and less elaborate dress than she had worn on her previous appearance at a New Year's reception. Her wonderful silken robes were the admiration of the women present. The Chinese minister pronounced her as pretty as a picture, and not a Chinese picture, either. She drew the Von's share of attention, even more than the Chinese minister. The Chinese minister was very much interested in her. Yang Yu's costume was resplendent. In his wake came his secretaries and attendants. Ho Yen Shing, Kwang, the Chinese minister's secretary, was also present. He was very much interested in her. Yang Yu's costume was resplendent. The presence of Mrs. Yang Yu was not the only mark of oriental advancement at the party. The Korean minister and his suite were announced the spectators who craned their necks to see the old hand. DE LOME APPEARS.
A year ago today the Venezuelan message of President Cleveland was fresh in the minds of those who saw Sir Julian Pauncefote bow and smile as he shook the president's hand. He was then in the city for a brief period to receive notice that diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the United States had been severed. He was then in the city for a brief period to receive notice that diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the United States had been severed. He was then in the city for a brief period to receive notice that diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the United States had been severed.

Others of the diplomatic body who were present were: C. D. Wockelhorst, the minister of the Netherlands; Senor Julio Rengifo, minister of the Republic of Colombia; Mr. Maurice Tostevens, counselor of the Belgian legation; Mr. A. Grip, minister of Sweden and Norway; Senor Salvador de Mendonca, minister of the Republic of Brazil; Senor Lazo Arriga, Guatemala's representative, and his wife; Senor Domingo Gana, the Chilean envoy, and Senora Gana, his wife; Senor J. P. Plocha, the Swiss minister, and Mrs. Plocha; Mr. Constantine Brum, the Danish minister; Mr. Francis M. Hatch, the American minister to the Russian minister; Viscount De Santo-Thyrse, the Portuguese minister, and Viscountess De Santo-Thyrse; Mr. Martin Garcia, the Argentine minister, and his wife; Senor J. B. Calvo, minister resident of Costa Rica, and Senora de Calvo, and Senor J. D. Rodriguez, the first representative of the Republic of Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador, to participate in the annual New Year's reception.

WILSON TAKES A HAND.
Secretary Olney, who had made the presentation of the members of the diplomatic body, was the last of the foreigners had passed, and Colonel Wilson took his place to introduce those that followed. He was then in the city for a brief period to receive notice that diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the United States had been severed.

There came ex-members of the cabinet and ex-ministers of the United States. Major-General Miles, attired in his full uniform, a broad sash, and a sword, was the first to appear. He was the commanding general of the military forces, led the large contingent of army officers. Adjutant-General Russell, who was a general in the army, was immediately in his rear. General Johnston, commanding the military department of the District of Columbia, was next. A brilliant picture was presented by the showy uniforms of the army and navy. SENATORS STRUGGLE ALONG.
Senators and representatives in congress struggled along before and behind the military and naval people. Senator Reed howled from the rear of the party, attracting considerable attention. Senator Sherman and other veteran wearers of the toga were also present. Black rock became the rule at this point and continued for some time. Passing along in the order assigned, came the regents and secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, the civil service commission, the assistants to the heads of the executive departments and the heads of governmental bureaus.

At a previous meeting of the delegation from the Associated Veterans of the war of 1846, all bowed down with the weight of years; then members of the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Veterans Legion, the Union Veterans Legion and the oldest association of the District of Columbia.

It was nearly 1 o'clock when the public reception began. Men, women and children of all walks of life passed in a seemingly endless procession through the reception rooms. For each the president and Mrs. Cleveland had a smile and a handshake. At 2 o'clock the doors were closed and the last of the most trying social ordeal of the Cleveland administration was over.

Mr. and Mrs. Olney.
Washington, Jan. 1.—According to custom, the secretary of state and Mrs. Olney entertained the diplomatic corps at breakfast at their residence at noon today. About 150 were present. Mrs. Olney was assisted by Mrs. George Gray, Mrs. Sheridan, Mrs.

McClellan, Mrs. Charles H. Davis, Mrs. Hogue, Mrs. Endicott, Mrs. Thomas H. Hogue, Mrs. Minot, her daughter, and a number of young girls.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Olney received callers. The vice-president and Mrs. Stevenson received in the parlors of the White House. Those assisting were Lewis G. Stevenson, Miss Clara R. Brown of Illinois, the Misses Endicott, Senorita Astruc, Mrs. Stevenson and others. The members of the cabinet received callers after the White House reception.

Americans Abroad.
Paris, Jan. 1.—Alexander Eustis, the American ambassador, held a new year reception today, which was very largely attended by the members of the American colony. Mrs. Eustis, daughter of the ambassador, acted as hostess. She was assisted by Mrs. George Eustis, Mrs. Alan Eustis, Mrs. Vignaud, wife of the American consul-general, and Mrs. Morton gave an "at home," which was attended by 500 guests. A galaxy of American beauties were present, consisting of Miss Busey, Miss Buchanan, Miss Noah, Miss Denby, Miss Sanderson, Miss Fairfax, Miss Fithian, Miss Munner, Miss Maud Davis, Mrs. Bowser and Mrs. Paul Lant.

The salons of both the ambassador and consul-general were beautifully decorated.

HAD GOOD LUCK.
Narrow Escape of a Train Load of Teachers.

Engine, Tender and Three Coaches Dumped Into the Ditch—No One, However, Was Badly Injured.

Des Moines, Jan. 1.—A passenger train on the Keokuk & Western road, with 100 teachers bound for their homes, after the state teachers' convention, was wrecked this morning 25 miles south of this city. The track was new and the grades soft after heavy rains. The engine, tender and three coaches were derailed and the baggage car and smoker being completely turned over. One coach with about 40 passengers was turned about half over, and the passengers had to be taken from the windows, but none were dangerously hurt. Eugene Chapman of Des Moines, who was traveling with the train, was badly injured, but not seriously. Chapmanmaster C. H. Sherwood had an ankle sprained and L. T. Haines was similarly hurt.

MARRIED THEMSELVES.
Peculiar Ceremony in the Peculiar Town of Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 1.—Rev. Carlisle J. Bartlett, minister of the People's church, sprung a surprise on the congregation by announcing that he had just married Miss Bartlett and Dr. Crane, in accordance with a ceremony which they had arranged, then married themselves and Rev. Mr. Jones pronounced the benediction.

The bride has been a minister here for eight years and through her efforts, a new church building was built. Dr. Crane is a native of Adrian, a graduate of the Michigan university, and a practicing physician.

The couple did not leave the city, and will not change either of their professional careers.

FIGURES ON WOOL.
Some Given by the Boston Commercial Bulletin Which Are Said to Be Authentic.

Boston, Jan. 1.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin, whose figures are accepted as the standard by the National Association of Wool Growers, and by the United States government will say in its review:

The total sales of foreign and domestic wool in Boston in 1936 were 15,202,510 pounds against 20,462,435 pounds in 1935. German Steamer Arrives.
London, Jan. 1.—The German steamer Virginia, Captain Von Bassewitz, from Stettin December 22 for New York, which put into Brunswick for temporary repairs after having been around, arrived, December 31, at Southampton, where she will go into dry dock.

CALIFORNIA'S CLAIMS.
Another Meeting to Be Held on the Cabinet Question.

New York, Jan. 1.—A Herald Washington special says: Another meeting of the Republican members of the California delegation is to be held this morning to further consider the question of agreeing upon a representative of their state to be recommended to President-elect Hoover for appointment in his cabinet.

At a previous meeting of the delegation from the Associated Veterans of the war of 1846, all bowed down with the weight of years; then members of the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Veterans Legion, the Union Veterans Legion and the oldest association of the District of Columbia.

Tupper Reconsiders.
London, Jan. 1.—Sir Charles Tupper, late high commissioner of Canada in London, has postponed the date of his departure from England for Canada until February 4.

TELLER IS THE CHOICE

No Doubt But That He Will Succeed Himself.

VEST'S GOOD CHANCES

THE CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE WILL MEET TODAY.

Senator Perkins a Candidate for Re-election—Sam Shortridge Also in the Arena—North Carolina's Fight Will Be a Hot One—Palmer's Successor a Problem in Illinois—Kyle Men in South Dakota Hopeful.

Denver, Jan. 1.—The Colorado legislature which convenes in this city Monday, Jan. 11, will elect a United States senator to succeed Henry M. Teller.

The election, however, is not creating the usual interest, as it is generally conceded that there will be no serious opposition to his re-election.

Vest's Good Chances.
St. Louis, Jan. 1.—Political interest hereabouts in the coming biennial session of the state legislature centers upon the election of a United States senator to succeed George B. Vest.

There is a large Democratic majority on joint ballot. Mr. Vest is a candidate for re-election. Half a dozen names have been suggested as competitors, but none is considered a serious opponent of Mr. Vest, and at the present outlook, it is safe to say that he will succeed himself.

Will Be a Hot One.
Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 1.—Prominent Republicans from all parts of the state are to participate in the coming senatorial fight. Interest is greater than ever before in a similar contest.

Republicans here all declare for Pritchard. The secretary of the Republican state committee arrived here this afternoon to conduct Pritchard's campaign. He says there are 75 Republicans in the legislature, and that 35 is a majority. Pritchard lacks 14 votes. The Populists claim 60 members of 170 composing the legislature.

Palmer's Successor.
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 1.—The Illinois legislature will convene Jan. 5. The most important business before it and the topic which is at present all-absorbing is the election of a United States senator to succeed Hon. John M. Palmer.

William E. Mason, Clarke E. Carr, ex-minister to Denmark and for some time speaker of the lower house; John M. Hamilton of Chicago; Samuel W. Alorton, the millionaire packer; also of Chicago; Congressman Robert R. Hitt and Martin B. Madden, a Chicago alderman.

Perkins and Shortridge.
San Francisco, Jan. 1.—The legislature, which meets in Sacramento on Monday, is largely Republican in complexion. That party has 74 in the two houses, 45 in the assembly and 28 in the senate.

Perkins will be a candidate for re-election. He is considered strong, mainly because the opposition has not declared itself centered for any one man. Another strong candidate is Samuel S. Shortridge, a leading attorney and brother of C. M. Shortridge of the San Francisco Call and San Jose Mercury. Others mentioned incidentally are Attorney General James H. McLaughlin, Scott, Colonel C. F. Crocker. Senator Perkins has been telegraphed to come home to attend to his light. The legislature meets on Monday and if so, will ballot on Tuesday of the following week; otherwise the balloting will go over for two weeks.

There will be no objection made to Jeter performing his duties as governor, though it is understood that he will have no voice as to patronage. Thomas Flint of San Benito will undoubtedly be elected by a large vote. The senate and Frank L. Combs of Napa will be chosen speaker of the assembly without opposition.

Indiana's Legislature.
Indianapolis, Jan. 1.—The legislature will meet for organization next Thursday morning, and there is a strong movement on foot to hold the Republican joint caucus to settle the senatorial succession that same evening, though the election of a United States senator is to be held on Monday, January 12.

The Republicans have a majority of 29 on joint ballot, and the fight will be settled within the caucus. The candidates are: William E. Fairbanks, who received the complimentary vote of the Republicans four years ago, when Turpie was elected; R. W. McKen, ex-president of the Vandavia system; and John W. Walden and Judge R. S. Taylor. Mr. Fairbanks has been in the field a number of years, and Mr. McKen a year and a half. General Wallace and Judge Taylor but recently permitted the use of their names. The supporters of Mr. Fairbanks claim enough votes to nominate on the first ballot in the caucus.

Mrs. Gougar Bounced.
Chicago, Jan. 1.—Members of the executive and central committees of the National Party, who have been in session at the Sherman House for two days, wound up their affairs tonight. When the session of the party was closed, the members of the party, and who was a member of both the executive and central committees, was asked to resign through a resolution presented by D. J. Thomas. The reason for the action of the committee in adopting such a resolution was that Mrs. Gougar gave her support to William J. Bryan in the recent campaign. Mrs. Gougar is a member of the party, and was appointed in her stead.

Resolutions calling for a fund of $10,000 to defray the expenses of the national committee were adopted.

Kyle Men Hopeful.
Huron, S. D., Jan. 1.—Many Populist members of the legislature gathered today to discuss the senatorial situation. The Kyle men were so hopeful of the outcome that they expressed their entire willingness to go into caucus.

In North Dakota.
Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 1.—Not more than a dozen members of the legislature are here. The senatorial situation is not as clear as it was in the following than any other candidate, but he lacks about ten votes of a majority of all the Republicans in the legislature. It looks like no caucus, a long fight in the legislature and the final defeat of Hansbrough.

Murderer Bram's Case.
Boston, Jan. 1.—The jury which has been trying the case of Mate Thomas Bram for the murder of the captain, his wife and the second mate of the barkentine Herbert Fuller, retired at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon. At 1:30 p. m. court re-assembled, but upon being informed that the jury had not reached a decision, adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning.

The Herbert Fuller sailed from Boston July 1 in charge of Captain Charles D. Nash. Thomas Bram, a mulatto, was first mate. His destination was Roanoke, in the Argentine Republic. The vessel reached Halifax harbor on July 21, having on board the murdered bodies of Captain Nash, his wife and Second Mate August Blandburg.

John H. passenger, discovered the horribly mangled forms on the 13th, and when he met Bram in the company, the latter tried to brain him. The case is a strong chain of circumstantial evidence against Bram.

WARLIKE PREPARATIONS.
Naval Movements That May Probably Mean Something.

Philadelphia, Jan. 1.—Lieutenant Commanding J. F. Pillsbury has been detached from the war college and ordered to assume command of the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius on the 9th. Lieutenant J. G. Quinby has been detached from the naval hydrographic office, Norfolk, and Ensign Warren from the naval intelligence office, and ordered to report for duty on the cruiser on Jan. 11. Whatever object the government may have in view with regard to the destination of the Vesuvius after she leaves League Island, certain it is that they are getting the vessel ready to go into commission.

The officials said today that in response to the department inquiries as to the shortest possible time in which the vessel could proceed, it was stated that she would be ready for service by the 15th inst. Most of the crew are in the city and will probably be installed on board on Jan. 12. A large force has been at work on the final detail of the Vesuvius outfit for several weeks and complete equipment, except coaling, now remains to be done.

The cruiser Brooklyn, which has been in commission since Dec. 1, is now almost ready to leave the yard. She has had steam up for some time, and it is said that in the latter part of next week she would start for Newport to take on her torpedoes and equipment, after which she will proceed to Hampton Roads.

SAME OLD STORY.
WOMAN LOCKS HER CHILDREN IN THE HOUSE.

Goes Away, Has a Good Time, and Returns to Find All of the Little Ones Dead.

Hanover, Pa., Jan. 1.—Last evening the three little children of Mr. and Mrs. George Dutter, who live in the country about four miles from the city, were suffocated. Mrs. Dutter left home to see a neighbor and locked her three children in an unused room in the house. When she returned she found her three little ones, with the dog, all huddled together in a corner of the room, dead.

It is supposed that a spark from the stove fell on the carpet, causing a smothered fire that soon filled the room with smoke and burned the floor.

LYNCHING PROBABLE.
Two Thousand People Are at Fever Heat Over a Murder.

Milan, Tenn., Jan. 1.—Six negroes are under arrest for the brutal murder of Captain H. P. Miller, proprietor of the Southern Pacific hotel, whose body was found yesterday in an unused room, with his head beaten to a pulp. The negroes are heavily guarded and as soon as any sort of proof is obtained the entire mob of 2,000 people are at fever heat over the affair. Captain Miller was beaten over the head with brass knuckles and the cash drawer robbed of its contents.

CALLED HOME.
Rear-Admiral Skerrett.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Rear Admiral Joseph S. Skerrett, U. S. N., retired, died at his residence in this city at midnight last night.

Admiral Skerrett retired voluntarily July 9, 1894, while in command of the Asiatic station. He was for a number of years in charge of the naval home in Philadelphia, and since his retirement has resided in Washington.

Andrew W. Sweet.
New York, Jan. 1.—Andrew W. Sweet, who for many years has been general agent for the Adams Express company in this city, and who was with the election of McKinley, died here at his home in Bensonhurst, L. I., this afternoon from Bright's disease.

A. W. Cutler.
Morristown, N. J., Jan. 1.—Ex-Congressman A. W. Cutler died this morning, the result of an operation for appendicitis.

Edward M. Johnson.
Okeana, N. Y., Jan. 1.—Edward M. Johnson, now clerk of the assembly of the state of New York, died of Bright's disease, after four months' illness, at his home this morning. He was born in London 36 years ago and came to America when 15 years of age. For many years he was one of the leading Republican politicians of the state.

NEW YEAR'S BURGLARY.
It Might Have Been More Serious at Other Times.

Calgary, Jan. 1.—Some time during last night safe blowers forced open a rear door in the Scudder Strup company's establishment at 31 and 33 Illinois street, and secured a safe with dynamite and scattered after securing $15,000 worth of stock certificates of the concern. The documents, however, cannot be used by the thieves, as they were not made transferable. The haul has been no money left in the safe Thursday night when the place was closed. Ordinarily the robbers might have secured a large sum.

These Prominent Men All Died of that Great Modern Curse—Bright's Disease

who are suffering with it today, and yet do not realize this serious fact. They are men and women in every portion of America who feel out of sorts and who do not realize what it is that affects them. They may have peculiar pains in various parts of the body, strange nervousness, a bad taste in the mouth, pains in the back and about the joints, and a general irregularity of the system.

These things mean Bright's Disease, in some one of its various stages, and no man or woman is safe who has them.

This terrible disease was once considered incurable. Eminent doctors so declared, but constant scientific and chemical experiments resulted in a discovery, which is an absolute cure for Bright's disease, even in its advanced stages. It is the one and only known remedy for this terrible complaint; its name is Warner's Safe Cure.

It is simply marvelous how many people are today kept in perfect health and strength through its use. It has a pleasant, soothing and quieting effect upon the kidneys and all adjacent organs. It relieves promptly, puts the system in a condition of health, and cures the disease for good. Testimonials of its great power could be furnished by the thousands, but all intelligent men and women, as well as the medical profession, know its great power and the grand work it is doing in the world.

Quirinal were consequently postponed. Several days ago King Humbert caught a cold which he neglected. He became feverish, but his condition has never been serious. He is much better this evening.

WOLCOTT AND SILVER
Hopeful For an International Conference.

EVIDENTLY HAS DOUBTS
IS GOING ABOARD TO INVESTIGATE FOR HIMSELF.

Will Visit European Bimetallists—Is Not Prepared to Say What He Believes the Result May Be, Other Than That He Has an Idea That Great Good Can Be Accomplished.

New York, Jan. 1.—United States Senator Wolcott of Colorado, who recently visited President-elect McKinley and conferred with him relative to an international bimetallic conference, is stopping at the Hotel Waldorf, previously to sailing for London tomorrow. His mission abroad is for the purpose of sounding English bimetallists as to the expediency of an international conference, and it is understood that the Colorado senator has the sanction of the president-elect for his negotiations. He would not discuss that feature of the trip.

"It is a fact," said he, "that I am going abroad for a month or so, and it is equally true that I expect to confer with European bimetallists. I am not prepared to know first what the result may be, though I am hopeful that good can be accomplished."

"I am going to Europe with the full knowledge and consent of Major McKinley," said Senator Wolcott. "It is not true that I am commissioned to act as the representative of the administration. The only official position I am authorized to assume is that of a private senatorial caucus commission, whose envoy I am. The Republican senators who desire to keep the promise made in the St. Louis platform want to know first what the feeling is abroad with regard to international bimetallicism and they have requested me to find out and report to them. So little is known here about the news and plans of the gentlemen in London and on the continent who are understood to be international bimetallists that the commission thought it best that I should have personal conferences with as many of them as possible."

NOT SANGUINE.
"I am not sanguine of success," added Senator Wolcott. "When I come back I shall know more about the prospect for an international agreement."

"What is the attitude of the administration concerning the bringing about of an international agreement?" asked a bimetallist. "I am committed to international bimetallicism," said Senator Wolcott. "So far as I know, there is not a Republican in congress and very few Democrats who are not in favor of international bimetallicism. The platform is plain on that point."

"You include Major McKinley, of course?" "Yes, I believe Major McKinley is thoroughly in earnest in his desire to carry out every pledge of the Republican platform, including the one on international bimetallicism. The country wants international bimetallicism. Nine-tenths of the people are in favor of it. The Democrats in congress will support it."

HE DECLINES.
Senator Wolcott was questioned as to the probable attitude of the gold Democrats, but declined to discuss the phase of the question or to signify what claim, in his opinion, they had upon the Republican party for their support. Speaking of prospective legislation by the present congress to promote international bimetallicism, he said:

"A bill is being prepared by the senate to amend the law which will increase the salaries of these commissioners and whatever share of the expenses of the conference may be due from the United States."

When asked to state to the stand that would be taken on such a bill by the Populist senators and their Democratic and Republican colleagues who favor independent free coinage by the United States Senator Wolcott expressed the belief, based upon expressions which had come to his knowledge, that none of them would make serious opposition to it, and that many of them would vote for it.

"They have no confidence in international bimetallicism," said he. "At the same time, they would be willing to take bimetallicism if it came that way and I think they will be willing to let us make the attempt, especially if they believe that results will come from it."

Senator Wolcott will go first to London and will be governed by the knowledge secured there as to his movements on the continent. He proposes to meet as many European friends of bimetallicism as possible while away. He will return in February and submit the result of his investigation to the senate caucus committee at once.
